

Dr. Eric Butter is a Clinical Psychologist with specialization in autism spectrum disorders, ADHD, and other neurodevelopmental disabilities. Eric's research has focused on the bio-medical correlates and potential etiologies of autism spectrum disorders and ADHD as well as psychological and medical treatment of these disorders. He is currently involved in several medical network grants and federally funded research studies. He is an Associate Professor in the Departments of Pediatrics and Psychology at Ohio State. He is also the Chief of Psychology at the Ohio State University Department of Pediatrics at Nationwide Children's Hospital and the Director of the Child Development Center and the Department of Pediatric Psychology and Neuropsychology at Nationwide Children's.